

Single-site stimulation and real-time closed-loop control: a single read-out column is inert, a resonant drive cures only at the discriminant-aligned site, and online amplitude titration from a sliding-window biomarker minimises the perturbation

